

Sample
Yes 2 the Future
Edu-Sports Lecture

Facts:

Trent Gracious is an All-State (1st Team) Forward on the Basketball Team at We Breed Ball Players High School and is being sought by five collegiate teams ranked in the top ten of National Basketball Collegiate Rankings. Gracious lives with both of his parents and they are attempting to understand the vast information they are receiving from colleges and universities about athletic scholarships. Fast Frank is an avid basketball fan and it is common knowledge he supports one of the local AAU teams (of which Trent Gracious played for his entire high school career) by making donations to their expenses for road trips and other expenses.

Ms. Gracious told Fast Frank she was having trouble understanding all of the athletic scholarship information sent to her and Mr. Gracious for the recruitment of Trent. Fast Frank told Ms. Gracious he would be happy to connect her to an Agent that represented professional basketball players. He said this Agent could explain everything to her if she signed an agreement he could provide at the We Breed Basketball Players High School Gymnasium tomorrow.

Ms. Gracious told Mr. Gracious about her conversation with Fast Frank that evening, and Mr. Gracious was highly upset and said he was going to the school the next morning to meet with the Principal and Athletic Director. The Athletic Director told Mr. Gracious not to worry about it and he didn't need to sign anything; the A.D. also told Gracious thirty-five (35%) of collegiate athletes recruited by Top Ten Collegiate Basketball Programs go to the NBA to play professional Basketball.

Mr. Gracious was still concerned and talked to his Pastor. Pastor Keen informed Mr. Gracious he recently received a flyer for an 'Introduction to Collegiate Sports Management Programs' seminar for High School Students and Parents sponsored by the local university next weekend. Yet, Ms. Gracious was told by Fast Frank the next day at the gymnasium that the Agent will be in town next weekend and wants to meet with Trent and Mr. and Mrs. Gracious.

Teams:

1. Local University Sports Management Professors
2. Attorneys
3. Athletic Directors
4. National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Compliance Officers
5. Parents (Mr. and Mrs. Gracious)

Anticipatory sets:

See Presentations Area

Assignment:

See Presentations Area

Game Rules:

See Presentations Area